Fellow membership (FIEMA)

Fellow membership is the highest level of professional recognition offered by the IEMA. Attaining this level of membership shows that an individual has demonstrated substantial achievement in the environmental management and assessment field. This level is for highly experienced environmental professionals, who are committed to promoting the goal of sustainable development.

Successful candidates are able to use the suffix FIEMA to demonstrate that this level of membership has been attained.

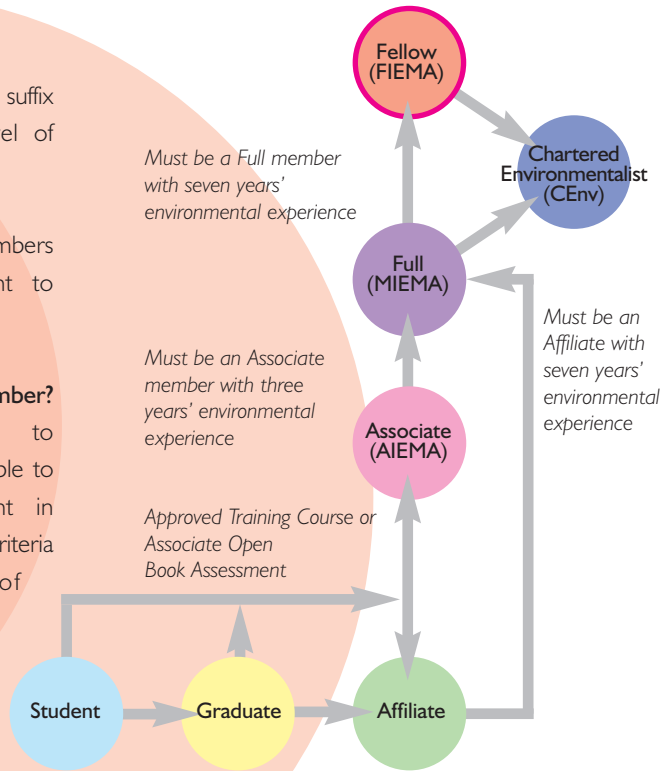

In a recent survey 75% of IEMA members state that membership is important to their career.

Who should become a Fellow member?

Fellow membership is awarded to environmental professionals who are able to demonstrate substantial achievement in the environmental profession. The criteria are applicable to a broad range of environmental professionals, for example: environmental managers; environmental impact assessment practitioners; environmental auditors; academics and regulators.

How to become a Fellow member

Application for Fellow membership involves a written submission and a peer assessment. This assessment is undertaken by two Fellow Membership Assessors. Only Full members of the IEMA can apply for Fellow membership, as it builds on the achievements and knowledge demonstrated for Full membership.

Member benefits:

- FREE copies of the IEMA magazine 'the environmentalist'
- FREE 'Practitioner' journals and other publications
- FREE entry to regional events and activities
- DISCOUNTED entry to IEMA national events and conferences.
- NETWORK with over 9000 environmental practitioners
- Specially negotiated PROFESSIONAL INDEMNITY INSURANCE for environmental management professionals
- USE of the suffix FIEMA
- Eligible to apply for CHARTERED ENVIRONMENTALIST status (CEnv)
- PARTICIPATION in the IEMA Mentoring Programme
